From the President...

Dear Members and Colleagues:

I hope everyone found time to relax and rejuvenate over the summer. BABA is ready to hit the ground running, with some great programs planned for our members during the remainder of 2023.

In recent months, BABA leadership and staff have worked to revitalize our committees with the principal objective of presenting topical programs and opportunities to meet experts in our prime sectors of defense, aerospace, transportation, security, energy and environment, financial services, health and life sciences, and trade. This effort includes the creation of a new committee—Technology, Media & Telecom. If you are interested in joining a committee, please contact LeeAnn Petersen at lpetersen@babawashington.org.

In June, we held our Annual General Meeting (AGM) and Member Appreciation Reception. Thanks to all of you who attended! It was wonderful to see so many of you and to meet so many new members. We had a record number of new members join this year, a total of 70!

During the AGM, we welcomed four new Directors to our Board – Marc Cowan, Vice President, Marc Cowan Homes LLC/Compass; Caroline Johnston, Founder & CEO, Greensland Bakery; Mary Elizabeth Taylor, Vice President, Head of International Government and External Affairs, Robinhood; and Sheri Lauten, U.S. Director of Government Relations for National Grid Ventures, who was elected to fill the unexpired term (2023-2025) vacated by Emily Duncan. Welcome aboard all! I also want to thank those directors whose terms ended: Hilary Fordwich, Strelmark LLC; Jill Landefeld, Brown Advisory; and Dena Wiggins, NGSA. I thank them for their dedication and service to BABA as Board directors for six years, and look forward to their continued participation.

The AGM was also a very fitting occasion to acknowledge our recent past Chairman, Mark Herlach, who served in the role for four years. Mark was recognized for his outstanding dedication to the Association as Chairman—always going above and beyond—tirelessly delivering resources, contacts, and expertise. He will be remembered for his constant presence at BABA events, often bringing membership prospects, as well as for being exceedingly generous with his time, budget, and advice for staff.

Please take a moment to read the Embassy News update on page three which re-affirms the U.S. and UK commitment to Ukraine; the continued trilateral security partnership between Australia, the U.S., and the UK; and the economic cooperation fostered between our two countries by the Atlantic Declaration.

On the topic of programming, please check out the BABA website events page click here for important information about fall activities as they are organized. One early date for your calendars now – we hope you are able to join us on December 15, 2023, for our Annual Gala Christmas Luncheon at the beautiful Fairmont! It is our flagship event, and always a fitting and wonderful way to celebrate the end of another year.

As always, we welcome member feedback; after all, it is YOUR association. Please feel free to contact me at the below email address. I look forward to hearing from you.

Embassy News

2023 continued with major moments for our shared international priorities with the US across economic and national security. Prime Minister Sunak's government remains intently focused on the UK's steadfast support of Ukraine as the UK and US are the nation's two biggest international supporters. The Prime Minister has continued strong working relations with President Biden, with the President's July 10th visit to Downing Street marking the sixth meeting between the two leaders in nine months.

In March, the Prime Minister welcomed the announcement alongside President Biden and Prime Minister Albanese of Australia in San Diego of the next phase in the AUKUS defence programme, which will see Australia build submarines supported by the UK and US. On this visit, the Prime Minister discussed with President Biden the UK's updated national security and foreign policy strategy.

The Prime Minister returned to the US in June on his first official state visit as Prime Minister to welcome the agreement of the Atlantic Declaration with President Biden, a new 21st Century approach to the economic relationship between our countries. The Atlantic Declaration will see the UK and US embark on the deepest level of economic cooperation either of our two countries have ever had with another country. On this visit, Prime Minister stressed that both economic and defence cooperation must be the two pillars of the UK-US alliance.

On this visit it was announced that US companies have committed to £14 billion ($17.3 billion) in major new investments, creating thousands of UK jobs and enhancing our joint investment relationship now worth more than £1 trillion ($1.5 trillion).

The Prime Minister also attended the second annual UK-US Friendship Day at Nationals Park.

The leaders' July 10th meeting ahead of the NATO Vilnius Summit discussed the first agreements under the Atlantic Declaration, which included new commitments on supporting one another's critical supply chains, developing new, clean technologies and removing barriers to the uninterrupted exchange of goods and services between our economies.

The Prime Minister and President agreed that accelerating international cooperation on safe and responsible AI development is one of the leading issues of our time. The UK will be a crucial global leader in these efforts alongside international partners. The UK will host the first ever global safety summit on Artificial Intelligence, convening international governments, leading AI companies and industry experts on November 1st and 2nd at the iconic Bletchley Park, one of the birthplaces of computer science.

Minister of State for International Trade Nigel Huddleston further deepened UK-US trade relations in 2023, signing the UK's fourth state-level Memorandum of Understanding with a US state--Oklahoma. This MoU, signed with Oklahoma Governor Kevin Stitt, is focused on boosting green trade, specifically carbon capture, utilisation and storage (CCUS) as well as the £174.4m worth of goods UK companies exported to Oklahoma in 2022.

On this same visit, Minister Huddleston welcomed a pioneering Mutual Reciprocity Agreement (MRA), unlocking a major trade barrier alongside architecture regulation bodies, making it easier for UK and US architects to operate in markets on both sides of the Atlantic. Since then, the UK's Engineering Council and the US National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying have entered discussions to allow UK and US engineers to operate in each other's jurisdictions for another ground-breaking MRA.

The Embassy celebrated His Majesty's The King's Coronation in June with a sidewalk celebration for the public, complete with British refreshments and British brands.

In July, the Foreign Secretary James Cleverly chaired first ever United Nations Security Council (UNSC) session on AI, calling for multilateral engagement and global governance of AI. The Foreign Secretary then joined Fox News' Martha MaCallum for a Fireside chat at the Aspen Security Forum on the UK's unwavering support alongside allies for Ukraine.

The UK looks ahead to a busy Autumn in anticipation of the UN General Assembly in New York, with the UK Delegation being led by the Deputy Prime Minister Oliver Dowden and the Foreign Secretary.

Continuous Delivery: Producing Code for the Nation's Next ICBM Interceptor

How Lockheed Martin's Next Generation Interceptor Program Enables Mission-Driven Transformation

Lockheed Martin's Next Generation Interceptor (NGI) program recently achieved a programmatic milestone: the first official flight software release. Lockheed Martin developed this within their Lockheed Martin NGI Software Factory, which enhances reliability and allows for faster development time. The delivery of this first incremental flight software to the Missile Defense Agency (MDA), and subsequent progress in development, marks a critical step on the path to flight testing and fielding. This is one way Lockheed Martin is accelerating capabilities through their mission-driven transformation program called 1LMX.

Lockheed Martin's NGI Software Factory automates software activities, enabling fast development and continuous deployment of software to advance customer missions. The factory utilizes people, processes, and tools to move ideas and requirements to high quality products at the speed of relevance, while reducing costs.

BABA Hosts Congressional Fly In and UK Caucus Reception

Earlier this year BABA hosted its first ever Congressional Fly In for our members and those of other chapters. ficials the group enjoyed a reception in honor of the UK Caucus that was attended by James Roscoe, DHM of the British Embassy, Congressman Joe Wilson co-chair of the caucus, Chris Fetzer, President of BABA and Nancy Ziuzin Schlegel, Chair of BABA.
